This area is where you will find course related discussions between the tutor and the students. Both tutors and students can post and reply to messages here.

If you have a question about any of the course topics, then post it here. Keep an eye on this forum for answers from your tutor and also some of your colleagues. Of course you are encouraged to answer your colleagues questions so you contribute towards a productive learning community.

This forum might grow tremendously as the course goes, hence it was thought it would be beneficial if we collaboratively rank messages to this forum. Once you read a posting rate it from 100 so the system will average our ratings and list the postings according to their rating. Though each one of us should read all postings, the readers may choose to start reading new postings according to the ratings given by previous readers.
